

I'd like to start this school year proposing an easy imagination exercise to all IES Mediterrània Educational Community;

"We must dream that our educational centre is a model school, with prestige, acknowledge by the local, autonomic and nacional educational administrations and known by our students' families and by those who want to take part of our centre. A place where pupils get the best educational experience we can offer according to their sacrifice and apprenticeship capacities and abilities, and their wishes and efforts for studying. A place where not all the students pass their examinations or promote every school year, but where their marks or results are according to their work.

Discipline and cohabitation are all around. The concepts are understood and they are turned into self-discipline and responsibility. There is a nice climate into the classrooms and mutual respect; tolerance and harmony are over all.

Parents take part in their children's education, they contribute with the teachers and altogether work hard in order to get the best of them. Teachers can work in a good way.

The board of directors are the leaders of the organization and good working in the centre. They are always trying to find the best with serenity, moderation and professionalism, being clear in the financial and administrative tasks. They promote everyone to take part in making decisions hopefully"

Is it utopian? Maybe, but it is not imposible. We can say it is a dream: inexistent, unconscious, attractive, desirable, ... full of energy! Isn't it fascinating? Let's turn i tinto a reality! If we like this dream, we can think "how nice it would be ... " and t this moment the dream becomes a great illusion. It is an awake and aware dream. I can think about it and even share it. Our dream is getting closer.

Let's dress up in this fantasy, as it was fine clothes. It suits us, we like it ... Fantasy becomes illusion. So we can think "how we'd like ... " It is nearer us... We are its owners. The dreamt image is ours.

Illusion, dreams and fantasy are only seeds: if we plant them, look after them and water them, they will grow up and become a desire. Now, it might be real.

But it isn't the end. On the contrary, now, with desire , starts the best. This desire makes us to get energy and motivation to do it. It's the food, the batteries and the fuel of our attitude and it makes sense when we try to change it in concrete actions.

We have the vision of our High School. We also have the mission and main objectives : "To lead the students to build their lives' Project. To put near them all the elements and necessary tools in order to build their knowledge, according to their rate of work and their habilitéis. To feel we are teachers and educators who teach, bring up and educate people. To know that our work is very important and to think it is true"

The values in which our centre is based are in our Educational Project: Peace and Tolerance, coexistence in harmony, contribution in making decisions, respect for the environment, honesty, effort valuation and personal work.

So, -students, parents, teachers, non-teaching staff, authorities and administrations- at the beginning of this school year, let's Stara the way doing our bit to ge tour dream becomes a fact.
